The project of the new building of the Italian campus of the Universidad Austral in the central area of the City of Buenos Aires, was conceived as an architectural solution to the urban context of the site, which is a highly urbanized area with a high density of buildings and a high level of urbanization. The project is a response to the urban context and the need for a building that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing. The building is a long, low-rise structure with a central courtyard and a series of vertical fins that create a rhythmic pattern of light and shadow. The building is a response to the urban context and the need for a building that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing.
